

Looking at detrimental energies

Richard Sears (February 2016)

Our first talk of the year entitled “Looking at Detrimental Energies” was given by David Lockwood from Trewen near Launceston.

Over 30 of us travelled the wild and windswept roads to Chulmleigh to listen to a very entertaining and absorbing talk on detrimental energies that can affect both us as humans, and also the houses that we live in. David who clearly is a very good teacher quickly built a great rapport with his audience, and what comes across is the methodical approach he uses to problem-solve with the use of his well-tried lists on different areas of detrimental energy.

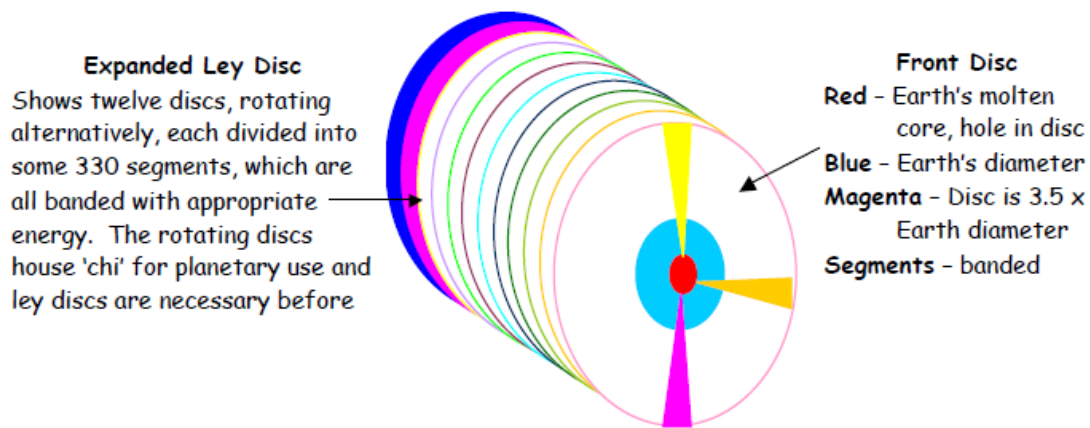

In a step by step process he showed us how he uses dowsing at every stage to identify which of our four main bodies are affected (ie physical, etheric, mental or spiritual body) and then continues by asking questions relating to the main root cause before healing that problem (eg if its geopathic stress, or attachments etc.).

As with many speakers on the subject of healing, David believes everything can be reduced to energy.... good or bad and introduced us to the concept of ‘Chi’ and how it affects us; then quickly (without some of us noticing!) moved on to talk of ‘God’ - “if one were to believe in that” as he said, sub-atomic particles and then the smaller god-particle of Hadron collider fame... and then gave us an even smaller particle to think about called “Theones” ... not yet discovered but fill all space (and outer space) where currently we are told nothing exists.

At this philosophical point I did think that this perhaps agrees with what such people as Sir Oliver Lodge & Arthur C Doyle used to talk about in that the “ethers” filled space and interconnected everything with everything else or am I wrong in that? No doubt someone will tell me! (I did always wonder how light from a distant star could travel millions of light years through the void of nothing? ... i.e. If nothing exists between us and that star... how can something travel through this nothing ... if it's not there... as it were!)

Happily David brought out his clutch of pendulums to practice with, and everybody greatly enjoyed some of the simple tasks he set us, like finding another person's aura, getting them to think of eating slugs, then of happier things and testing the difference in distance from the body in our auras. He also talked on the subject of our chakras, and got some of us to see our own aura around our fingers as a grey layer a few millimetres from our physical body.

The talk and questions went on well beyond our normal finishing time but one of the more controversial ones for us dowers was that of “Ley discs”. I asked David for one of his slides on the ley disc diagram it is as shown below.....and these are David's words of explanation to go with it:-

A few days later I tuned in and asked to find the storage system used for a planet's 'life force' system; it led me to understanding that ley lines were in fact huge discs housing Chi. To keep the Chi fresh not stagnant resulted in the disc being a multidisc arrangement of alternately rotating discs creating multitudinously small vortices.

Ley discs have a flat face whereas Earth Energy discs have a wavy face and may be curved: using a dowsing rod shows this quite clearly walking in a straight line for leys and a sinusoid pattern for earth energy discs.

These ley discs should not be confused with Watkins leys which were simply lines that went through five special sites in a line on a map; no energy being associated with them. So these energy discs should be referred to as 'Flat Faced or Crinkly Faced Earth Energy Discs. Leaving leys as originally defined.'

Certainly this gives food for thought as many of us understand energy lines to have a "wall of dowsable energy" above them, and converting our thoughts into this wall being 'inclined' or 'wedge shaped' is not too far of a stretch. But what some in the meeting were questioning and having problems with were energy lines (like the Michael/Mary lines) that weave about in their positive/negative attributes between nodes. How can they be straight or evenly sinusoidal?

Alas we ran out of time. Nevertheless all were agreed this was very good talk, and demonstrated dowsing and the use of rods and pendulums at its best for healing.

(David Lockwood is a Tutor for the British Society of Dowsters and World Federation of Healers and will be running a dowsing for 'beginners to intermediate' workshop for us in May. He also runs a range of other workshops and these can be found at www.healer-dowser.com.)
